Clucky The Vulture

👁 16 ✓ 0 ★ 1

Chapter 1 by Tarzan

Once there was a vulture named "Cluck". He was a very special Vulture. He could not fly and his beaks were only good for cutting plants, not meat.

And worst of all His flock did not appreciate him. One day Cluck went for a walk. without even realizing it he was able to walk all the way around half the globe! And he realized he was hungry. He thought of a nice leafy green and when he found one he ate it like it was nothing. He sat down and thought "Are these things happening because it makes up for the lack of flight and being able to eat meat?" he decided it was best to leave the flock on his own. He did this for the best. There were carnivores, He was a herbivore. They could fly, He could run fast as lightning. And as expected he lives a nice life in Saudi Arabia, Africa and has made lots of other vultures like him that could be considered "Special" and that have had the same situation with the same flock! He then learned that he was normal because most other vultures had this two. He learned to live normal and lie low near his old flock for being an impostor to them
